

BALFOUR SAYS PARTY SPLITS HELP LABOR

Warns National Liberals and Conservatives of Peril in Divisions.

DENOUNCES SITUATION

Lloyd George, III, Cancels Two Addresses, but May Make One Saturday.

BONAR LAW WILL FIGHT

Dramatic Announcement From Former Premier's Headquarters Is Forecast.

Special Cable to THE NEW YORK HERALD. Copyright, 1922, by THE NEW YORK HERALD.

New York Herald Bureau, London, Nov. 1.

Mr. Lloyd George is confined to his home with a sore throat, and his anticipated declaration of open warfare at the polls with the Conservatives and the die-hards has been withheld. But his campaign headquarters is feverishly organizing his followers and a dramatic announcement is expected. It is claimed that by Saturday the list of regular Liberal Lloyd George candidates will be close to 200, while if the Tories continue to force a fight in the accepted coalition constituencies the Lloyd Georgians will retaliate by nominating 150 emergency candidates.

Lloyd George leaders are hesitating till the last minute to do this because of fear of splitting the vote in such a way as to enable Labor to gain control. The former Prime Minister's adherents say that the Tories, blinded by party fever, are running for a fall.

The four cornered fight has grown more intense, with 1,350 candidates provisionally adopted already for the 615 Parliamentary seats. These candidates are divided as follows: 461 Conservatives, 400 Labor, 320 Independent Liberals, 169 National Liberals. It is more than likely there will be more named before Saturday, as the breach is widening between British Chancellor Says Settle Debt to the U. S.

LONDON, Nov. 1.—(Associated Press).—The new Chancellor of the Exchequer, Stanley Baldwin, declared to-night in a speech at Cardiff that his first duty will be to settle the debt to the United States. "It is a heavy debt, but we have told America that we are responsible for it to the last penny, and we are going to pay it," he said.

The Chancellor advocated continuance of close cooperation with Britain's war time allies, France and Italy, and cooperation as far as possible hand in hand with America.

Lloyd Georgians and the Conservatives. Lord Balfour, in a speech in Edinburgh to-night, warned the National Liberals and Conservatives of the danger from the Labor party. He denounced the divisions in their parties which laid them open to a common peril.

The real fireworks of the campaign are expected this week-end. Prime Minister Bonar Law has promised to adopt a fighting attitude in his forthcoming speeches. In order to reply to Mr. Lloyd George's sharp censure of his House of Lords die hard Ministry. The former's supporters say he will take his coat off.

Neither the Conservatives nor the National Liberals wish to spread the conflict between them, but various attacks by local Conservative organizations, acting on their own responsibility, are causing growing irritation, and the central Conservative organization has not seen fit to interfere. Indications are, however, that negotiations are going on quietly with the Tories, because it is said that the Bonar Law Cabinet fears Labor may gain at the expense of a Conservative majority. If the more moderate leaders fail to withhold the hand of the die-hards, the Lloyd Georgians will throw down the gauntlet and stake all on the next House of Commons.

Lord Birkenhead said to-day: "The whole situation has disclosed too weakness in our representative system. If this were an American Presidential election and the candidates were Bonar Law, Asquith, Lloyd George and Henderson (the Labor leader), there could not be the slightest doubt that Lloyd George would be returned by an overwhelming majority. His difficulty is that he cannot obtain the value of his personality and influence in terms of votes. Apparently the Conservative wire pullers are encouraging us to take on many comparatively inexperienced candidates in the hope that their failure at the polls will end in Lloyd George being marooned and helpless in the next Parliament.

Loosely drawn party lines are accountable for bewildering personal situations. Several libel suits already have been filed between candidates wearing the Conservative label. Following a writ sought by Dr. Bayly against Lady Astor, J. M. M. Erskine, member of Parliament for St. George's, Westminster, pressed action against Lieut.-Col. Leslie O. Wilson and his organization to-day for saying that he had pursued underhand methods in getting elected against a Conservative and then forming his own Conservative organization.

But perhaps the most confusion is to be found in a case called in Harrow, where Oswald Mosely, who calls himself an Independent, adopts Unionist colors and asks their honest support, at the same time welcoming both Asquithian Liberals and National Liberals to his standard. Lord Robert Cecil, Unionist, is speaking for him in meetings, while Mr. Mosely himself is going to Cornwall to support his Liberal friends. The case is aggravated in that Mosely is the son-in-law of Lord Curzon. Foreign Secretary in both Lloyd George and Bonar Law Cabinets. He married Curzon's daughter by his first wife, who was Mary Leiter of Chicago.

LONDON, Nov. 1 (Associated Press).—New candidates are being nominated daily. A striking feature is the large number of professional men standing under the Labor banner. These include several well known barristers and authors. In a letter addressed to the British Union of former service men, the Prime Minister explains his attitude with regard to the Pensions Ministry. Explaining that the Ministry cannot be abolished except by legislation and that the new Ministry of Pensions will not be removed until the House of Commons has had the fullest opportunity to discuss the pensions matter, when the views of former service men will receive consideration.
